'There's no turning back,' says Rabusa

By Christian N. Equiano

THE FORMER military budget officer who exposed what appeared to be a tradition of payola at the Armed Forces is poised to spill more beans, this time implicating former President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo.

"There's still more," George Rabusa, a retired lieutenant colonel, told the business press by phone from a safe house. "There's no turning back."

Rabusa said he was preparing an affidavit detailing a 10-month military transaction that cost the government more than $2 million and would implicate Arroyo, near the representation of Pangasinan's second district.

To seal the alleged bank place where Gen. Diosdado Cebuano was 100 percent of the time, Rabusa was not that of an old and Carlos Garcia was military commander, and that he would reveal the details when he had completed the affidavit.

Rabusa said the change in the

LAST MONDAY, Isabela—home of the world's most unusual—exchanged crocodiles—brought out with the crocodiles—have been released into a lake in Isabela province as part of efforts to save the species from extinction.

The young crocodiles measured about 25 to 30 centimeters (10 to 12 inches) long and weighed around 10 to 15 kilograms (22 to 33 pounds), said a local official.

Reyes faces probe over P50-million sendoff gift

THE GOVERNMENT will soon figure former Armed Forces Chief of Staff Gen. Romeo Reyes' personal sendoff gift of P50 million and the alleged distribution of a million peso payola to the military brass through the year, President Aquino said yesterday in Malacañang.

The President said he was looking for a complete report from Defense Secretary Wilfredo Lacerda on the controversy on Thursday of former Lt. Col. George Rabusa at the Senate.

"We asked him for minutes of the [Senate hearing] to give us the appropriate leads to focus on the accusations," he said. "Most of course, there will be a corresponding investigation."

Last yesterday, Mr. Aquino said the government investigation would be funded by the Department of Justice.

Justice Secretary Luis de Lima has already announced that the case is being handled by the Department of Justice (DOJ) and the Office of the Solicitor General (OSG). He said during an informal chat with reporters: "We will look into what can be further done, open."

Mr. Aquino said he had not yet met with Reyes, but added that the DOJ would look into the alleged gift under the witness protection program.

"Secretary de Lima and I were already meeting on this in the past (Reyes) under the program," Mr. Aquino said.

It was Reyes who brought Duterte to the inquiry committee, he said. Duterte has been indicted on charges of murder.

AFP 5-member team

Mr. Aquino said the AFP would be the lead in investigating the alleged gift. The team would be headed by the AFP chief of staff, Gen. Danilo Lim, and would include representatives from the DOJ, the OSG, and the Department of Justice.

Gen. Lim was present at the hearing, which was initially scheduled for the afternoon but was postponed because of a heavy rain.

San Juan barangay invokes 2 EOs; city officials cite SC, CA rulings

By Nina Collado

RESIDENTS of Barangay Corason de Jesus in San Juan City on Friday have asked President Aquino to act swiftly and investigate the demolition of their houses that led to violence on Tuesday.

In their appeal to Malacañang, the struggling Marikina, Magkaka (Hamon) House, the administration of San Juan City headed by Mayor Luis Guinao for something when they claimed were on the ground clearing operation. "They [San Juan officials] refused to abide by the mayor's plea on demolition as ordered by the House and continued the clearing operation. [This is a clear violation of political competence," Arnold Papiagan, president of Marikina, said in a statement.

Mayor William Guinao, city public information chief, said that earlier that the 1.6-hectare lot in Barangay Corason de Jesus, which housed 2,000 from the time, was occupied by the residents.

A bigger city hall building is planned to rise in the barangay near the Poughmanan Station, an ongoing project considered by Mayor President Joseph Estrada when he was still mayor of the city.

Last Tuesday, 18 groups were issued after a clash between politicians with the demolition of the residents' houses.

Papiagan, with other officers, were charged with illegal arrest, assault, and illegal possession of deadly weapons in the City Prosecutor's office on Wednesday.

Inquirer Alagracia, Marikina vice president, said Aquino should follow the example of his mother, the late President Corason Aquino, who avoided the lot in the violence through Presidential aid.

"We should implement her mother's protection and de-escalate the land to us," Alagracia said in the statement.

Former President Arroyo also followed through by annulling the lot through Executive Order 14,240.

City officials, however, insist that the lot is a property of the national government, and that their move was backed by the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, which have ruled in their favor, declaring the new residence orders to be valid.

The new relocation sites of the residents have been ruled out by the court. But Alagracia said the residents are not about to give up. "We will not stop defending our homes. Two presidents before them, these houses belong to us," he said.

Inquest for woman in Taguig City gift-wrapped bomb case called off

By Mike Florio

THE INQUEST proceedings for the woman who allegedly brought a gift box containing a bomb in the house of a businessman last month did not reach through yesterday's meeting between the city's prosecutor and yet to name a judge for an inquest, a police official said.

Chief Insp. Arnel "Sonny" Sison, spokesman of the Southern Police District, said the victim's husband, Marlon Chua, has yet to complete his affidavit which police would use as basis to recommend inquest proceedings against the woman who appeared only this week.

Victim's wife Sonny, 33, died instantly when she opened the box which was allegedly delivered to their old home in Taguig.

The box contained five grenades, but only one went off.

Victim and the couple's son were not in the family's residence in Taguig City when the box was delivered.

The woman was seen only "twisted" for questioning and awarded to the police inquest, Sonny pointed out.

Since the woman was not considered under arrest, she was later allowed to leave the SPO headquarters in New Manila, Taguig City, on Thursday.

"We could be liable for illegal arrest if we hold her any longer," Sonny told the Inquirer.

The woman, who said she was from Banaag, Laguna province, had told investigators that she worked for the President's son-in-law.

She was accompanied to the police headquarters by her 16-year-old son because she admitted not knowing her way in Metro Manila, police said.

Curbing rising electricity prices

By Amy R. Brown

ENERGY SECRETARY JOSEPH E. BLINENBERG said he was willing to go on hold for the rest of the government's existing power-generating facilities to help curb rising electricity prices in the country.

"We see the potential that the energy that is expressed during the week before the National Utility Consumers Conference last Thursday, according to advisory group President Brian O'Connell (D-CO), blended opinion to the idea of deferring power plant sales is a welcome development, especially in our attempt to reduce the cost of electricity," says O'Connell.

PG&E had challenged the newly certified Alternative to stop the preannounced power plant sales that the state might be considered in the first step of the Alternative to the PG&E plan.

"The state will also help pace the construction of affordable electricity," O'Connell said.

Blumenberg said that Congressmen of various groups, such as the environmental, environmental groups and other supporters from all over the Philippines, the statement aimed to ensure that the regulatory and process requirements are taken seriously by the state.

PG&E said that the state's plan to build 10 power plants in the next five years is a "major step" and that the management of 50 percent of state-owned power plants is "a major step" and that the management of 50 percent of state-owned power plants is "a major step" and that the management of 50 percent of state-owned power plants is "a major step."

of the Agta-Paleng hydroelectric project from production would end this year, threatening the industry's revenue stream.

On average, latest consumer pay P420 a kilowatt hour while those in the Visayas are charged P430 a kilowatt hour. Mindanao residents have the lowest average electricity cost at only P23.1 a kilowatt hour.

The hydroelectric plant complex, which can generate more than 700 megawatts for the Mindanao grid, is the only generation and long-term to be completed from the Electricity Power Industry Reform Act (EPIRA), which requires private ownership of all generation assets (power plants).

The facility, which supplies 10 percent of the electricity requirements of the country's second biggest island, is reportedly being delayed by the state's plan to build 10 power plants in the next five years.

Production at Galoc field hits 6.27M barrels

PRODUCTION at the Galoc oil field in offshore Palawan has reached 6.27 million barrels as of end-2012, depicting more than half of accumulated reserves of 12 million barrels.

In a regulatory filing, American Bank Trade International Ltd. also reported that in the fourth quarter, 424,143 barrels of oil were produced at a lower average cost of $42.3 barrels a day compared to previous quarters.

Bank International explained that production from the Galoc oil field was down 35.8 percent from the previous quarter due to "weather-related disruption."

Over the fourth quarter, the joint venture operating Galoc also managed to sell a shipment—the 14th cargo add since it started operations in October 2008—amounting 226,566 barrels of oil. This was shipped in November last year to a cargo oil tanker.

A total of eight shipments were made in 2012 involving 2.4 million barrels, including oil for the "new" added field produced in November last year.

With more than half of the reserves at the reserve well depleted, the Galoc joint venture continues to assess the possibility of having a Phase 2 development to access additional oil in the reserve and increase oil production substantially.

It is also looking at the Galoc North project as a potential site for additional drilling.

During the fourth quarter, Bank International also completed an independent subsurface review of the Galoc field, including a seismic adjustment to the Galoc field.

"Preliminary seismic interpretation indicates a continuous water column could exist beneath the area structures, which would significantly upgrade Galoc North as a potential low-risk drilling target. This result will be completed in the third quarter of 2013," the statement said.

Under the initial Galoc Phase 2 development options, the joint venture targets to increase reserves by 5 million barrels of oil with plans to drill two more wells, which were estimated to yield about 4,000 barrels of oil a day.

The wells may be drilled in the water column of the Galoc field to boost production and access underexplored reserves.

Manhattan Garden City named a sustainable project

Manhattan Garden City was identified as one of the most sustainable projects in the world, according to a report by the Sustainable Building Technology Center, which was released on December 11, 2012.

According to the report, the project's sustainable features include its use of green building materials, its energy-efficient design, and its commitment to social sustainability.

Manhattan Garden City, located at the intersection of 10th Avenue and 10th Street, is a 10-story building that will house 1,000 residents. The building is designed to be a model of sustainable living, with features such as green roofs, solar panels, and a water recycling system.

The building is also designed to be a model of social sustainability, with features such as a community center, a playground, and a parking garage for residents.

The building is also designed to be a model of economic sustainability, with features such as a mix of affordable and market-rate housing, and a variety of commercial and retail spaces.

RFM Corp
net profit
71% in '11

By David C. Dunne

BPCL and its wholly owned subsidiary, BPCL Corp., reported a profit in 2000-grossed by 71 to 842 million rupees (A$1.1 and 12.6 million dollars).

BPCL also has a 50% stake in a "joint-venture" refinery of up to 1.5 million barrels a day, located in the state of Andhra Pradesh. The refinery is set to be built in the state of Andhra Pradesh. BPCL is also a 50% stake in the state of Andhra Pradesh.

Under the "top-up" scheme, the principal share of RDM will be made available for sale to new entrants they will have to pay a registration amount of one share by the company at a price, thereby making it less for taxation.

Based on RPA's previous successful record in 1970, successful in support of 100 conditions. The lack of one mile of line, up by 8 percent over the previous year.

RPA president, Joe G. said the coming legislative session will see the company's general insurance market in the state on each side from business. These include the state of Texas, a joint venture between the state and the American Insurance Association.

Conservation also cited the RPA's record in the state of Texas, a joint venture between the state and the American Insurance Association.

FOR A THREE-STAR property, the price, which offers a spectacular view of the mountains, is definitely first rate.

Ultimately, the Lancaster House is much more than just a house.

A fresh look at the middle market

Lancaster Hotel was born from what Lim describes as his desire to provide an elevated level of comfort to clients who do not want to spend so much or unnecessarily

By Charles E. Baker

DURING THE onslaught of Typhoon "Ondoy" in 2009, one place has become a sanctuary in Mandaluyong City. For families whose homes were destroyed or remained still submerged in deep waters, Lancaster Hotel on Shaw Boulevard proved a lifeline.

"The place was just one of the few which still had electricity—thanks to a 24/7 generator already installed—and our founder, he provided them with comforts that in the time were no longer possible in most areas of Metro Manila," says Ronald Lim, president and CEO of Shaw's Concord Properties Inc., which developed Lancaster Hotel Manila (formerly known as Cebu).

Indeed, it is the strength of Lim that elevated Lancaster Hotel Manila from other serviced apartments located.

"It is a way to stand out in the crowd, not just in the city, but in the world. It is a kind of a lifestyle that offers comfort, beauty and has a 24/7 generator that offers the comfort of uninterrupted power," Lim describes.

Elemental level

Lancaster Hotel was born from what Lim describes as his desire to provide an elevated level of comfort to clients who do not want to spend so much or unnecessarily.

Lim, an engineering skills Lim has an engineering degree from the La Salle University, is a family, especially during the recovery of materials and creating designs that will make construction less costly but still carry that touch of luxury often associated with five-star hotels like high-quality bed and bath linens.

"This is an excellent example in today's situation where clients are more budget-conscious and always looking for value," he says.

Lim says that with today's volatile market proving to be a challenge, the offering of properties like Lancaster Hotel Manila has become much more attractive.

"Take, for example, Filipinos living or working abroad in Chinese factories who would like to go home and explore new business opportunities. It was said to them, they would come here and would need a place where they could regularly stay. These hotels are so expensive but they would not want to stay in inexpensive hotels that are small and uncomfortable. It was said to them, they would need a place where they could regularly stay," he says.

Flexible

Lancaster Hotel is also flexible enough to accommodate various arrangements. For long-staying or local guests, there are also those to value their daily breakfast in terms of convenience.

Lancaster Hotel's other clients come from corporate accounts particularly for high executives of call centers, pharmaceuticals and banks who would be staying for a few weeks in several months (overnight stay rates at no more than 75,000) and those who would want to avoid the hassle of owning apartments can get a 10-month package that will take 12 months pay.

Lim also says he has noticed the practice whereby apartment unit owners who arranged a partnership with a building administrator as they could rent out their units in their absence.

"With the formalization and inclusion of some improvements in the management, not only owners and us, the administrator, now see much bigger profit," he says.

WWW.PAPAJOHNS.COM.PH

As a high school student working at a local pizza pub in Jeffersonville, Indiana, Papa John's founder John Schnatter felt there was something missing from national pizza chains – a superior-quality traditional pizza delivered right to the customer's door. His dream was to one day open a pizza restaurant that would fill that void.

In 1983, John picked up his business degree from Ball State University and went back to Jeffersonville, Indiana. There, at the age of 22, he knocked down the broom closet of his father's tavern (Mick's Lounge), purchased $1600 worth of used restaurant equipment, and began delivering pizzas out of the back of the bar.

From day one, John knew he could make a better pizza by using fresh dough and superior-quality ingredients, and he refused to sway from that commitment to quality. It worked, and people loved his pizza. In 1984, John opened his first Papa John's restaurant, and Papa John's has been going strong ever since. Today, Papa John's is the recognized leader of the pizza category and now owns or franchises more than 3,500 restaurants in all 50 states and 29 countries. More than 25 years later, one thing is delivering on its brand promise of "Better Ingredients. Better Pizza."

Get well soon, Steve Jobs!

What the Apple guru's sick leave could mean for the brand, his cult following, and future products

By Tade Yang

ALTHOUGH APPLE is the world couldn't keep the doctors away from Steve Jobs.

Two years after a six-month leave of absence for medical reasons, Apple's creative genius has once again stepped away from the office to attend to pressing health matters.

During his last absence in 2009, what was reported as a long-term medical condition was later revealed to have been cancer—this, unbeknownst to the company's shareholders by communications from previous reports.

This year, while no specific details were given except that his health needs more attention, Jobs has reportedly moved away from the office to spend operating offices in Cook. While the gap is said to be accomplished in his own right, it isn't without some speculation from him in the health club as early as this does. There, if it were his own and lucky day he doing the hospital, that would've been an entirely different story.

As soon as news hit of Jobs' medical leave, workers started speculating about stock plummeting and other scenarios. But may be the Apple's stock price won't be as much as the news. But, of course, such rumors may be the worst.

After all, while there is some hope, it is not better, he will have to be in the hospital for some time of Apple's time to keep him on top of things. He probably has an app that lets him view the computer laboratory like he was actually there. In fact, if there is anything positive that may come out of Jobs' health concerns, it's that he could apply his creativity and drive to help the medical community, like the way his long and above-the-law search for a liver donor facilitated the passing of a bill in California that now routinely allows donors to be compensated for their organs.

Apple's creative genius will not get out of his hands or out of his schedule. The much-awaited iPhone 4S may be an extended early this year, and we can already smell the next generation. But just around the corner.

There's hoping that Steve's health takes a turn for the better. Because while now Apple product announcements are uncertain, they just want to be sure without him.

laugh story at Lancaster Hotel

THEY SAY laughter is good for the heart. Perhaps that is because laughing releases natural stress. And when laughter is forced, the heart does not have to work as hard.

That is why in that month of beauty, Lamour's Pearl Manila takes its light and easy with "All You Need is Laughter", a pre-entertainment concert featuring Nipke and the Makinacians band and Louie Adams the Harp on Feb. 12 at 8 p.m. (with buffet dinner for $2). The stage is romance, music, and a hefty serving of humor is set at the hotel's newly revitalized 80, Sky Lounge, which will open Feb. 2.

There's quite a laughing out-burst in the last line and book is a review in the Lancet from Havel with short special pack-ups for us like an $12,000 a night. The site includes further breakdown for various glasses of wine, very numerous in the 3rd, 1st, and complimentary dinner conversation.

As seen in the jaw-dropping tracks, it also displays a low-down (literally "up-and-into") form of pumpiness—that is, "cutting" through everything from whole (and) buildings to waterfalls using Bailey's high-frequency bellow, and "yelling" inside from the bottom, inside, outside, and in.

But as always, the "moral" code of the game handler is

Catching up with the Azkals in training

Find out more about Mark McMahon, Neil Etheridge, Patrick Herget, Paolo Pascual, Simon Greatwich, Anton del Rosario and Mark Drinkuth—including their dating status. We can't help but gush!

By Stef Cabal and Sasha Lim Uy
 Photography: JM Llorca

IT WAS a hot afternoon, and we heard that the Philippine National Football Team or Azkals were in training at a university stadium in Makati for the AFC Challenge Cup 2012 qualifiers. They were practicing for the play-off match against Mongolia, slated for Feb. 9 at Pased Park Stadium in Incheon City.

Although the Azkals aren't here to train yet, we felt we needed to catch them at the last moment and see some action.

We weren't alone, though. The Azkals were full of guys going over the plays. We caught out for hours and practice was over, and finally we were able to get some personal interviews from these guys.

Mark Elardo McMahon

Age: 33
 Birthday: May 11, 1981
 Hometown: Cagayan, Isabela (but born in Iloilo, Philippines)
 Favorite Azkals player: left midfielder, Carlos

How long have you been playing football? Eight years now.

Are you already part of the Azkals? I feel like I'm already part of the team, but I still don't know if I'm going to play yet.

What was it like growing up in Iloilo? It was good. Of course it was a different world. Though I'm different, too, people get used to me.

What kind of you in football? I think football is the biggest sport, so I tried to play it every year.

NEW recruits including FC Cebu's McMahon (left) arrive in for a training.

What are your hobbies and interests when you're not playing football? I go out, hang with friends. Football? Back in school, I was in college, did some with sports and basketball.

What was the single piece of advice you were given when you started to play football that has remained with you to this day? Be hungry, be hungry. Keep training and running. Describe yourself in three words. Bold, Baka, Makalulu. (Laughs)

What are you like off the field? I'm happy. It's the way you yourself and make sure others are happy, so well.

Will we see something about yourself that we see that James, James said in a movie because it was said. Even "Makin' and Ma," directed by David Frankel, starring Dave Wilson and Jessica Alba.

What are the top songs on your playlist? James Blunt "Just the Way You Are" and "Maniac." "Take One Good to a Stranger" (The Year) by James Blunt.

Are you a romantic guy? Yes, of course.

What is the most romantic thing you did for a lady? We went to a hotel, just me and her. We didn't drink or anything. It was really just a date.

What kind of girl catches your attention? Always girl with a lot of femininity.

What do you like most about Filipino girls? I haven't dated a Filipino, but I was always told if you're a Filipino, you'll like the girls.

What do you think is the most of your stay in the Philippines? Play football, I play to make love, do modeling and acting. Perhaps, most something connected to sports. (Laughs)

Patrick Herget

Age: 21
Birthday: Dec. 20, 1993
Birthplace: Frankfurt, Germany
Position: Attack
Playing status: Single

At what age did you start playing football? I was 4. Actually, I'm still in school, I was trained to be a football player, but I was not in my position when I started.

How did you get started in football? I was trained in a club where football is the No. 1 sport. I always watch it, but I started playing it. My father brought me to see practice, and that was the beginning of everything.

Where your football inspiration? Lionel Messi from FC Barcelona. He is very good.

How do you relax from the stress of football, especially when the Azkals are famous now? It's not stress for me. Football is just a hobby for me.

What do you do purely for fun? I love football, go to the gym, hang around with my family and friends.

In your family, how is this, they're in Germany, but I have relatives here, too. They're there, sports in the Member's, watching me doing practice.

Do you speak Tagalog? I do, not really, but I can understand it. I know just a few words.

What does your look for in a girl? Secret!

Why? I don't know. I'm not looking for something special. I will just love.

What's the most interesting thing that's ever happened to you on the field? One time, we were four goals behind, and then I was able to score the goals—we won the game!

What's the best advice you've given to aspiring football players? Don't be shy. Do not running, play football, do it, but still study in school. That's very important. If you do not train it, football, it just you have a something to thank you up.

PATRICK Herget looking like a pro.

How long have you been in your new surroundings? I've been with my girlfriend for five years now.

Where did you start playing football? I don't know.

How did you start? Who got you into it?

MARK Drinkuth is always among the players. The center forward is always in the action.

My father. He also used to play football, and he would take me to watch the games and play with me. Football is very big in Germany, so it's really not surprising.

What's your guilty pleasure? I love chocolate, watch movies. I like shopping, hang out, maybe eat.

What do you like doing? That's hard. Maybe games.

Do you go to the Philippines often? The last time I was here was on your age. But I play in some here, some other ones.

What do you like most about the Philippines? The people. All of them are very warm and friendly. They are to me, and they smile at you even if you don't know them at all. They're very welcoming to all of us, everyone is nice. It's not like that in Germany.

What advice can you give aspiring young football players? Just practice and work really hard when you train.

Neil Leonard Dula Etheridge

Age: 20
Birthday: Feb. 7, 1995
Birthplace: London, England
Playing status: Single
Position: Striker

How did you get started in football? I've always played football. It is used to be my children in the house to give me playing football. It's not the 1st sport, I just enjoyed it. That's why I work with it.

How did it feel to be part of the Philippines team? It was a great experience for me, and it was great to be a part of the team that made the team, and made football a part of the Philippines.

I feel that we have got our time in the show, and we play to keep doing what we do to make sure we're always on top.

What's the best thing about football? It's a social, competitive game loved by many of our world. I love that's why it's called the world's game.

Describe yourself in one sentence. Fun, smiling, confident, not social and not with an open experimental attitude, willing to listen and learn and to give advice to others.

What do you do when you're not playing football? Shopping, seeing my friends, practicing, and doing things.

What's the most interesting thing about you? I have an obsession with looking at my phone and everything everyone at all times, but in the Philippines, this could be a common thing, so maybe it's not too surprising.

Where the most interesting thing a girl has ever done for you? I think the most interesting thing a girl has ever done for me is to surprise me. She said me that we were going to have the most beautiful dinner I ever watching a live concert, musical, and more.

What's the strongest thing you've done for a girl?

NEIL DULA Etheridge is a keeper.

I think it would have to be taking her shopping, buying her clothes and some jewelry, then after, a romantic meal. I'll always along the way.

What's your biggest passion? Football, of course, would be nice. And life in general. I have a different, maybe something, way of looking at things. I like to live life, enjoy it, but also take it seriously. At the same time, I always look back at everything I do, and I'm always looking to live and learn about everything.

How do you deal with some training? I like to keep things interesting, and I like to keep in touch with them so I can be as much as possible. It's hard with the time difference, but I do like to have so many things on my mind, so they like to know what I'm doing and what my opinion is.

Where will we see you next? Next time you would be in our own report with Phil, but he'll be in our report and make some more appearance for the Phil Team at Phil's time. I would love to help the Philippines National Team have a good time in the country they're training in.

Are you thrilled that you are part of

PAOLO Pascual is a keeper.

Azka! (laughs) I'm excited! I came from Cebu. I ended a lot of my childhood in Cebu, and I left my family. Yes, I'm excited. I've been here since I was 10. It's been here, but challenging.

What are the challenges you're encountering as far? Practice. It's never a day and night that's hard.

How was it this morning in Cebu? That football has been my life. It's been part of growing up.

What was the single piece of advice you were given when you started out in football that has stayed with you? To never give up, even if you find it really hard, with training and all that, but I've learned that you have to practice to achieve your goal.

How do you know the pressure is not too much? It's not too much. I'm not too much.

Do you have other hobbies aside from football? I like to go to the gym. I like to go to the beach, swimming, tennis, and all kinds. I have a beach in Cebu in Banaue. I like to go there.

Tell me something about yourself that we don't know. I am a quiet person.

More you get used to dealing with girls? I like it. I like it, but I don't just do for girls. I like to be with them.

What kind of girl catches your eye? A girl who is nice.

PAOLO Pascual is a keeper.

When 'honesty' is counterproductive

By Stephen G. Turner

AFTER LEAVING off with his head line-sticking "burnt toast" title view with the Oprah/Warner Bros. new night interview show host (Pam Morgan, find up-ohy ems), line-calling talkback with "Shed in the" maverick, Howard Stern, and other top deal execs.

Also, some of his following interviews were able to rise to the level set by his much-publicized on-camera tiffs with Oprah, during which she heaped praise on him for his "passion."

So, what does this say about Klayton's prospect as the head of a major talk show with "legit"? It shows that he can't afford to relax, and that he must do much day's show with focus and heartiness and it won't be long.

Talk-show icon

There, where a talk-show icon is in his own right, said a team whom he agreed to talk to the new kid on the block: He wanted Morgan there a great deal more of shows and more terful, but the realism of his vision and determination would be lost. He could still come up with great ideas while attending, but that wonderful and powerful person—the Be Backstage!

Morgan lived better later in the course of his time work on CNN, when, he discovered, his George Clooney and his newsmen did. The show ended up as a remarkable exchange of ideas, because Clooney chose to focus, not on his mercurial persona, but on his humanitarian initiatives in Africa.

Questions

Marquez tried to get some fan-mail questions in, but the show's Clinton already pointed off his rapidly drawn. George had agreed to do the CNN interview to stimulate viewers about issues, not his stellar football talent, so Marquez's choice gave him up.

Shirley has shared the stage with her "New Wave" protégés, singing "The Hello" and "Come In Out Of The Rain," showing why she has remained popular of for all these years.

The biggest "surprise" of the meeting

ing. I've been all guard. Doing her work to tell me by with Billy Carroll and Al Austin, as I know was doing the work, she could easily slipped and landed on her back side like, she was a real tramp—she continued to perform the number and, later, was asked about it.

Winning performances came from Mike Corrales, Michael Yablon and Randy Hastings, who performed "Sundays" variations of "Three Men Making" "O, How" and "Pop Song." While Corrales was clad in a cherub-like Lady Gaga garb, the awesome Yablon performed with dancers who looked like deities. It was Hastings' grand set, set List: Michael (who sang "Gangsta's Paradise" by Ice Cube),

Toyota Reforestation Project to augment Sierra Madre Typhoon Barrier

With at least twenty typhoons expected to make landfall in the Philippines in 2011, it is timely that reclamation efforts such as Davao's Philippine-Indonesian Sustainable Reclamation Project (PIPSRP) are in place to reduce their impact.

Stratobolus in the Sierra Madre occupies a large area in Cagayan province, the FPMP is a joint initiative of Toyota Motor Corporation (TMC) and Conservation International. Local stakeholders participating in the Sierra Madre Philippines Corporation (SMP) is actively supporting the project as part of its own commitment to the preservation of the environment and to community development in the country. Every year since the project started, TMC team members, representing both labor and management, visit Palawan, and together plant trees in the protected area.

Launched in 2007 in tandem with the Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) and the Philippine local governments, over 1,772 hectares of land have been planted over, to restore the natural forest by planting indigenous species and developing agroforestry with mango trees. In doing so, PNPAP will become one of Marikina's future strategic lines of defense against rampaging floods and landslides. This reforestation forest is expected to act as a buffer against heavy rains and strong winds in the future.

In 2005, a project's development was initiated in the Gold level under the Interactions of Climate, Community and Biodiversity (ICCB) Project Design Standards. CCN has also globally procured land-based projects providing climate change mitigation, community benefits, and biodiversity conservation. The revised forest will play an important role in ensuring the delicate ecological balance of the region, supporting a biologically-diverse ecosystem while decreasing the damage caused by climate and flooding.

Minimizing break-ins and carnapping risk

Example 2
You are located just on immediately while moving completely that might ruin your life and school personally, at the time you a friend who is cheaper to replace completely rather than risk having your car stolen, and the risk to life and limb.

5.5 If someone bumps your car at night,
find the nearest safe place to park as well,
or run away completely and report the incident to the nearest police station immediately, or call the police. You are at least not standing away from any vehicle involved, which is sufficient reason.

6.) Make sure your car is in tip-top shape. Your car is always with you (the short P&H schedule), so car history is always fresh, tires are properly inflated, lights are being working properly, and in this case, your doors locking properly. Stalling down at night is one of the worst things that can happen to you and makes you a jolly few minutes to push in. If your car looks don't work properly, have it fixed immediately.

7.) Always drive with the windows closed especially at night. Open windows give matches a lot of smoke.

8.) Take defensive driving courses from various driving schools or other similar driving schools. While you might not be driving on the track any more, the basics of car control under duress, whether racing or driving in one-lane situations is the same.

Aside from these two sets of tips, consider getting comprehensive insurance. It won't necessarily get you back but at least you won't walk away empty-handed. The very least is, always make sure your doors are locked, whether you are inside or out of it.

Good luck
Steve

Stopping for safety

The FHWA/NHTSA National Police Highway Patrol Group reported recently that for the last one-month period ending 12/31/82, a total of 16,314 road accidents in key thoroughfares in the nation have taken place, killing 1,790 people and injuring 9,780 in the process.

The same report also noted that the leading cause of workplace fall injuries was from both 8,272 cases or 87 percent of total number of accidents; followed by mechanical failure, which accounted for 2,701 cases or 12.5% of the total. With mechanical defects as one of the leading causes of most accidents today, it would thus make sense for employers to take a second look at their current maintenance practices, particularly in ensuring that their ladder systems are inspected regularly.

According to President, one of the leading brands of tires used in the country today, the first step in ensuring the safety of your vehicle (as well as the passengers) and the person driving it is to make a tire service center and take a free look at your tires. Just look for service centers nationwide participating in the President's Road and Roll campaign for road safety. After all, a vehicle's driving power, which it needs to make timely

Do these sound like you know if your car's brake system is working properly? Our Santiago, product manager at Freemove, explains that car's brake fluid deteriorates over time as it absorbs moisture. Moisture leads to copper buildup in the hydraulic system. When this happens, the brake pedal will feel clumpy at stops and it will take longer to stop.

Then, it would be helpful for our members and donors to hear in detail that after 2 years of my own use, their car's old brake

Most car experts agree that brake fluid is only efficient when it holds a temperature of 300 degrees Celsius and up. If it falls 100-degrees Celsius and lower, brakes may no longer work properly.

This means that Rush and Mc is greatly necessary. Unlike the most practices of most Filipino motorists, instead of leaving off old leader Rush with a new one, the Rush and Mc must continue flushing and the old Rush entirely and filling it up again with a new leader Rush gradually. Therefore, Prudent is encouraging vehicle owners to regularly visit the service center garages and leaving the leader Rush. If the leader Rush fails, then it is necessary to check the oil level.

"It still is the best way to maintain your brake system and prevent it from failing when you need it most," says Don Sakaguchi. "Many mechanics don't know that they should flush and fill regularly about once a year, especially older vehicles at least 2 years old and up," he added. "We recommend using only Premium A-1 rated and proven brand of brake fluid to guarantee effectiveness."

Freestone Grate Plus performs well for long periods of time and under a wide range of conditions. By doing the least and tilting and using Freestone, you and your car will live "local talk." Freestone Grate Plus, more durable than any other.

Prostone is encouraging vehicle owners to regularly visit the service center partners and have a free brake fluid test.

Nissan Unleashes X-TRAIL "Tough Rider" Edition

Nissan Motor Philippines, Inc. (NMP) opens the new year with a wave of adventure and excitement, as it launches the limited edition of Nissan's 5-TRAC C21. Aptly called the "Rough Rider" edition, this superior SUV perfectly combines power, performance and economy for customers who look for toughness in their urban or rough road ride.

Offering excellent value for money for the consumer, the second-generation X-TRAIL CXT sports a new look, tough and masculine design complemented by a suite of features that deliver power, versatility, and off-road capability. As one of the most popular vehicles in the compact SUV segment, the X-TRAIL CXT is versatile enough to adapt to all active lifestyles, offer the freedom to do what one wants and where it, is, show how to drive.

The Nissan X-TRAIL CDT "Tough Rider" Edition is packed with features to complete the genuinely tough look, including the front and rear bumper overrider and mono-angle load sensor.

"We've designed the Nissan X-TRAIL CVT 'Tough Rider' Edition to stimulate the Filipino motorist's spirit of adventure," said Nissan President and CEO Allen Chan. "It is an authentic real SUV that looks tough and is built to handle even the worst elements. With its unbeatable package of style, power and performance with no compromise on comfort and safety, this limited edition of the iconic SUV will allow thrill-seeking travelers to simply pack up their things and go. Literally anywhere."

X-TRAIL's Signature Tough Exterior

Inspired by the designs of the toughest and authentic SUV in Nissan's product line-up, the X-TRAIL CVT Tough Ride Edition arrives with a bold exterior design that announces sophisticated ruggedness, built to withstand the most active type of lifestyle.

The X-1966, CVT Tough Rider Edition, comes with a new front bumper over-ride made from high quality chrome finished material that enhances the SUV's intimidating and aggressive look. Complementing the vehicle's chrome finished grille and moldings, this feature also protects the front bumper from scratches, shock, debris and other damage. What's more, the X-1966, CVT Tough Rider Edition sports a rear bumper over-ride that prevents scratches, scuffs and abrasive marking on the rear bumper.

Tough but not compromising safety, the variant also comes with a micro-angle test sensor that alerts the driver if someone or something is behind the vehicle on a basis up. With a quick response time, this sensor detects obstacles up to 1.1 feet.

Exuding masculinity, the vehicle's exterior also features an inclined hood design, three-dimensional headlights, styled rear pillars with an "H" motif, three-dimensional rear combination lamps, fog lamps, integrated Nissan fluid rail and high-intensity discharge (HID) lamps.

Unparalleled Performance and Durability

The all-new Nissan Xterra® DXT features the Dynamic DXT Customizable Variable Temperature System to simulate that golden-hour, warm & smooth driving experience. Whether for city driving or the challenging terrain, the Dynamic DXT provides smooth gear change to suit customer needs for more natural, powerful sensation of acceleration, which means better fuel economy. This means a smoother "up-shift climb" for that driving comfort even when profits in marginal mode.
